

EXAMPLES OF INDIVIDUALIZED STUDY PROJECTS

These are some examples of projects that students have created in the past for their Individualized Study Projects. They may give you some ideas for designing your own project. Keep in mind that your project can be as creative or academic or practical as you wish it to be. Also, consider a Community Service Project that will give you an opportunity to work with a community-based group or organization.

Design the network infrastructure for a multi-location corporation
Creative writing projects (short stories, poetry, autobiography, children's literature, etc.)
Thematic unit on "History Through the Lens of Local Happenings" for elementary school
Archeological research
Research paper on herbalism
Alternative teaching methodologies at the elementary level
Research on depression in adolescents
The transformation of genes by vacuum infiltration
Study of the Shawnee tribe
Attitudes towards recycling
Development of a total quality purchasing system
Study of the psychological manipulation of jurors
Ethics in the accounting industry
Survey of geographical literacy
Art therapy
Research paper on medicine in the Middle Ages
Fetal tissue transplantation and research
Mental wellness and older adults
Creative artistic projects – painting, sculpture, photography
A study of brain hemisphere dominance
Creation of a handbook on consumer protection
An original screenplay
High school program on abstinence
A study of alterations in subjective consciousness in Alzheimer's patients
Postal history of the Barberton/Norton area
Research on the causes, symptoms, and treatment of obsessive-compulsive disorder
A poetry portfolio
Homeopathic treatments for cancer
An investigation of the influences between the music industry and journalism
Notebook of resources to help the elderly
A comparison of central themes in John Steinbeck's fiction
Domestic violence in Islamic countries
Researching students' carbon footprints
The start-up of an agricultural cooperative